MAY. 4, 2018 VOLUME 2 ISSUE 5

FOUNDER'S MESSAGE

DEAR AIB SUPPORTERS,

Another great month. Looking back at April, we had another wonderful mixer with over 75 attendance, thanks to our partners at Pasadena Service Federal Credit Union, specifically Andy Tien, Rhonda Newborg and Yvonne Boutte who represent the values of AIB: local and focused on uplifting our communities through engagement and education. A big thank you to former Assemblywoman Ling Ling Chang, and Kids That Code's Patrick Person and Alfonso Anaya, for sharing their wonderful work around education.

As we gear up to the June 5 primaries, we are throwing a great forum for our 39th Congressional district candidates, Bob Huff, Young Kim and Shawn Nelson. We are honored to host three pro-business and pro-family candidates. Please join us at Diamond Bar's South Coast AQMD on May 9th (always the 2nd Wednesday of the month) for this great event. Over 100 have already RSVPed.

OUR APRIL MIXER WAS A SUCCESS!

EVENT RECAP:

April was a unique event where we made sure to keep the marketing low key, for the reason that our space was smaller than our previous locations and for the demand of people who want to attend our events. I am so glad it worked out, as we had one of the best times ever with 75 of our most engaged members

The team at PSFCU were so amazing, they got wonderful catering for our attendees, and homemade iced tea and lemonade, you could even make an Arnold Palmer if you wanted (and that's what I did).

After a brief recap of AIB by Marc, Michael and Chi, our friend, Young Kim opened up the meeting to introduce our speakers, Kids That Code (Patrick Person and Alfonso Anaya) and her former colleague, Ling Ling Chang. Kids That Code told us about the great work they do, injecting their presentation with humor.

Ling Ling Chang spoke about her work with STEM and the Youth Science Center, but also about the importance of civic engagement. A self professed tech geek, Ling Ling reminded me of my BBS days and took us down memory lane. She inspired many people in the audience, as a role model for young women.

Finally, Andy Tien gave us an amazing story of building a bank branch inside a high school, John Muir High School. He spoke of his roots, his inspiration and the mechanics of making this happen. Andy is such an inspiration to us all.

EDUCATIONAL UPDATES:

This month was also special because we did quite a bit in our educational committee, probably inspired by our STEM-filled meeting and Chi Ni and Marc Ang's participation at the City of Stem launch on the steps of LA City Hall, featuring Bill Nye the Science Guy and Mayor Garcetti.

But outside our mixer, Chi Ni, our educational lead, was very busy. First, Chi debuted a genius board game to our board members. Antao Chien, Marc Ang, Lany Indrawati and Chi Ni all played this board game. As an adult and financial advisor, I even felt like I developed new insights around risk and money management. We are so proud of Chi and want to see this game being played in every household and school!

Chi also had a booth at the Columbia Memorial Space Center, where he featured a colored token sudoku board, which was much harder for my brain to grasp than regular numbers, an awesome machine that solved Rubik's cubes and other fun educational gadgets!

CHARITABLE:

Our ambassador Russell Reneau connected AIB with the wonderful Hope Through Housing Foundation based in Rancho Cucamonga. We got to see a great open house in one of their Montclair properties and learned that their program goes beyond housing the needy, but helping them transition into a life of productivity.

We also were introduced by our wonderful partner from the Rancho Cucamonga Chamber of Commerce, Ruby Huey (President), to the VIP Inc, which will be our first stop when we refer people to vocational opportunities for the developmentally disabled. Marc got a tour of the facility by VIP Inc employees and saw the great work they do, first hand.

CULTURAL:

We celebrated the life of Anna Chan Chen-nault at a beautiful memorial at the Church of Our Saviour. Sophie Wong spoke in tribute of Anna's life.

Xin Hui association celebrated its inaugural dinner. We are proud to support this great organization with a wonderful mission to help recent immigrants and which also encourages charity and activism.

UPDATES:

COMMUNITY:

We supported the Taste of Chino, a great annual event held by the Chino Valley Chamber of Commerce. It was wonderful running into Young Kim, Raziel Arcega and many other community leaders there!

BUSINESS:

AIB showed support for Chong Hing Jewelers' 48th anniversary in Rowland Heights, joined by Congresswoman Judy Chu, Walnut Mayor Mary Su, Sophie Wong and many other community leaders.

POLITICAL:

When there are many great candidates in races, we stay neutral. While individual board members are allowed to have their preferences, we only endorse candidates when it's abundantly clear that only one candidate represents our pro-business and pro-family values. And sometimes we find that candidate outside our region. We are supporting George Chen, who is the only Asian candidate running for Torrance City Council. Please join us on May 12th. RSVP via Eventbrite and the location will be revealed to you by email.

We are also throwing a Meet and Greet for another Asian candidate, Sean Flynn, on May 18th in Rancho Cucamonga. Hope you can join us to meet the "Economics for Dummies" author, and a bright economist who has the rare talent of being able to break it down for the masses.

CALL TO ACTION

CULTURAL:

UCLA Bear Wear thought it was enough to appease us by including an Asian male in the catalog on the winter apparel catalog but reverted to excluding us in Spring. Please voice your dissatisfaction. Join Michael and myself to fight this battle which we will highlight at our next meeting. If you feel as strongly about this as we do, send an email to marc@mangusfinance.com.

CHARITABLE:

Everyone interested in helping out our charities, which are featured on our website, should reach out to marc@mangusfinance.com. There are opportunities to help Santa Claus Inc, Words of Comfort Hope and Promise, Boy Scouts, Talk About Curing Autism and other charities with a lot of year round programs.

EVENTS CALENDAR:

Please continue to submit events directly to marc@mangusfinance.com, which will end up on Aib2b.org/events, where we feature our partner non-profits' events, and charitable opportunities.
