Founder's Message

Marc Ang

Dear AIB Supporters,

October was even busier than September.

Our October 10 mixer drew a crowd of over 100 and featured two powerful panels with great speakers. Special thanks to Abel Dutra of the Portuguese Center for hosting the venue and to EON UPTIME for sponsoring. The topic of immigration was tackled from a student visa perspective to overall policy, featuring speakers from the left to the middle to the right.

Being so close to election month, there were other issues we tackled such as the cross section of faith and political discourse. AIB has partnered with the American Renewal Project in an October 19 luncheon which drew over 35 pastors in an intimate setting.

On the same day, we had a boba break in Arcadia, signalling our future efforts for growth in the West San Gabriel Valley. So honored to have Peter Amundson, city council, Burton Brink and Eric Chan speak.

This month, on November 14, is our veterans mixer. See you then!

OCTOBER MIXER: IMMIGRATION

Featuring Warren Kusumoto (City Council Los Alamitos), Paul Chang (Dept of Labor), Guillermo Barron (Social Security Administration), Junko Ishikawa (Int'l Students Officer), Dr. Cherstin Lyon (Cal State San Bernardino), Donald Suxho (Former Olympian), Alexander Kim (Neway California), Karen Roseberry (US Senate Candidate)

What a star studded cast as we delved into important issues. First panel featured a discussion on student visas and the impact of limiting immigration on the work force, especially when considering highly specialized sectors.

The second panel went to more general immigration policy where differences in opinion around the time to assimilate were discussed. This robust discussion on solutions means that no matter where stand on the issues, listening to the left, right and middle allow us to come away with more knowledge and nuance. Thanks to everyone for participating and adding to this important discussion.

A timely issue with a focus on education of the community

PASTOR'S LUNCHEON - OCTOBER 19

Partnering with the American Renewal Project, it was important to reach Asian pastors and discuss important issues such as sex education and issues, which are becoming more and more silent from the pulpit.

Thank you to our family at the Renewal Project for a two part series that reached so many Asian pastors and church leaders. We had an exclusive luncheon at the Arcadia Garden Cafe, where we had a powerful program. Immediate past mayor Peter Amundson spoke on the importance of faith, followed by Eric Ching, City Councilman of Walnut and other community leaders. Tough questions were asked and the audience left understanding the importance of being a leader. It is to stand firm in our beliefs with love and to make an impact, by speaking on tough issues, not staying silent.

A 2 day conference in Riverside also allowed our pastors to learn about important current issues in depth and the importance of assessing our values around candidates running for office and their stated platforms as well as track records. Powerful stuff!

Pastors can be silent no more.

COMMUNITY BOBA BREAK - OCT 19

Thanks to the city of Arcadia for opening up a nice space on a beautiful day for the community to gather and have some boba.

Eric Chan spoke on the importance of the gas tax proposition, while we had an open discussion on local issues, propositions, taxes and local races.

Our members got to mingle and talk current issues
